Jerdon's Minivet

This custom tour had a very small number of special targets, which had become even smaller after the amazingly successful Thailand tour, which preceded it which had already found the likes of Mrs Hume's Pheasant, Yellow-bellied Flowerpecker, Spectacled Barwing and Black-backed Sibia. This allowed us to focus intently of the remaining specialities beginning at Kalaw where the sole target – Burmese Yuhina – was one of the toughest of the tour, yet treated us to great views within just a few hours. Moving on to Lake Inle we logged Jerdon's Bushchat, Chinese Grassbird and Collared Myna. Bagan was our next destination where we logged the dry country endemics, Hooded Treepie, Jerdon's Minivet and Burmese Bushlark amidst spectacular scenery and with Rain Quail as a bonus. A short visit to Mount Victoria for Striped and Brown-capped Laughingthrush, Mount Victoria Babax, Burmese Bushtit, Spot-breasted Scimitar Babbler and White-browed Nuthatch, then we headed back to Yangon where morning visits found both Jerdon's Babbler and 'Davison's Bulbul'.

Having arrived from the Thailand portion of the tour we were flying again a few hours later, headed for Heho, from where a short drive brought us to the former colonial hill station of Kalaw ready to begin our Myanmar adventures in earnest the following morning. After a very comfortable night in our plush new hotel we were away before sunrise the next morning, making our way on foot to the remaining evergreen forests of Yay Ayekon. The walk took us through a mixture of open pine forest and small agricultural plots, all of which thronged with birdlife. With our target lying in the evergreen forest we tried hard not to be distracted but still saw Eurasian Hoopoe, Slender-billed Oriole, Burmese Shrike, Eurasian Jay, Yellow-eyed Babbler, White-browed Scimitar Babbler, Brown-breasted Bulbul, Black-winged Cuckooshrike and wintering Yellow-streaked Warbler. We were surprised to see a Black-tailed Crake feeding unconcerned in a dry field that afforded excellent views, as did a smart Black-breasted Thrush. Once we reached the forest a flock of Grey-sided Thrushes, a skulking Orange-headed Thrush and a White-tailed Robin were the first to greet us. After a picnic breakfast we set about searching and racked up an excellent selection including Davison's Leaf Warbler, Marten's Warbler, Streaked Spiderhunter, Silver-eared Mesia, Yellow-cheeked Tit, Orange-bellied Leafbird, Long-tailed Broadbill. Blue-eared Barbet, Erpornis, Maroon Oriole and Speckled Piculet. Our first circuit didn't give us any joy but we persisted and in the mid-morning get the response we were looking for, with a pair of Burmese Yuhina in a nearby tree for good views before they went on their way once more. Great Barbet, Rufous-capped, Puff-throated and Golden Babblers were added before we made our way back to town through the late morning heat. After lunch and a rest, Cook's and House Swift sent us on our way as we headed for our next destination of Lake Inle. A roadside stop before the lake was productive with a dapper pair of Collared Mynas and at least two Jerdon's Bushchats the reward. We then enjoyed the last of the day overlooking the lake from our superbly appointed hotel with Pheasant-tailed Jacana and Grey-headed Lapwing the highlights.

Burmese Yuhina and Jerdon's Babbler

Chinese Grassbird and Jerdon's Bushchat

Our boat ride out onto Lake Inle the next morning was a pleasant and relaxed contrast to the walk of the previous day and there were birds everywhere. Our main targets appeared relatively fast with multiple close sightings of Jerdon's Bushchat and the first to times we stopped to look at them there were also Chinese Grassbirds on show, the latter species was 'lost' as a Myanmar species until rediscovered here by Birdtour Asia in 2012, but would appear to be quite common in the remaining habitat. As we made our way slowly along a quiet channel we also added Western Marsh Harrier, Black-browed Reed Warbler, Bluethroat, and a two showy Pallas's Grasshopper Warblers. In a larger marshy area were good numbers of Glossy Ibis, Grey-headed Swamphen, Indian Spot-billed Duck, Pheasant-tailed Jacana and Spotted Redshank. The more open parts of the lake held thousands of ducks, comprising Eurasian Coot, Garganey, Lesser Whistling Duck, Little Grebe and small numbers of Tufted Duck. A good count of 14 Grey-headed Lapwings finished off a success morning and we headed off again to Heho for a short flight across to the town off Bagan where the cultural appear was immediately apparent as we passed dozens of stupors and temples on our way to our hotel. As we rested during the heat of the day the first of the dry-country endemics was found, with troops of White-throated Babblers patrolling the hotel grounds. As the heat began to abate we headed out, birding the dry fields and scrub with temples dotting the landscape providing a suitable atmospheric backdrop. Plain-backed Sparrow was new for the trip and we had improved views of Vinous-breasted Starling, with taxonomic interested provided by the xanthocyclus form of Collared Dove, with its darker vinous plumage and broad yellow eye-ring supporting the proposed split as 'Burmese Collared Dove'. Better was to come as a pair of Hooded Treepie swooped across the fields to land in a nearby tree where the settled to feed on a fruit, allowing prolonged 'scope views. Shortly after we found our first of several confiding Burmese Bushlark, and a major bonus as a covey of 4 Rain Quails exploded from a nearby field and gave excellent flight views, then two Barred Buttonquails scurrying nearby providing an excellent size comparison to the much large quail. Unfortunately we couldn't pull in a minivet for a clean sweep on our first afternoon, and we finished the day with noisy Spotted Owlets over dinner.

Burmese Bushlark

Hooded Treepie and White-throated Babbler

Indeed the minivet was to prove somewhat difficult with no sign again the next morning, the highlights being Richard's Pipit, Wryneck, a shy Siberian Rubythroat, and some cute Burmese Hares. A rest over lunch produced a roosting Spotted Owlet and Sand Larks from the hotel grounds and in the afternoon we decided to try a different area where a flushed Jungle Nightjar gave great views and we were rewarded with a delightful pair of Jerdon's Minivets which we were able to watch for more than 20 minutes, before heading to enjoy the sunset over the scattered temples and stupas of Bagan, a perfect finish to our time here.

Early the next morning we were on our way to Mount Victoria, stopping in the dry deciduous forests along the way where Changeable Hawk Eagle, Rufous Treepie, Lineated Barbet, Small Minivet and others were new trip birds and we logged good numbers of parakeets, with Finsch's Parakeet the highlight. We were at our comfortable, rustic accommodation in time for lunch and in the afternoon began our exploration in the scrubby habitat at the base of the mountain where some skulking Striped Laughingthrushes eventually showed well, one of our few targets here. The next morning we headed higher up the mountain scoring Mount Victoria Babax, Brown-capped Laughingthrush and White-browed Nuthatch quite easily. At another spot Chin Hills Wren Babbler proved remarkably responsive, singing back angrily from the under storey nearby. Although we were focussed on our target species it was impossible to ignore the other stunners present and great views were had of Fire-tailed and Green-tailed Sunbird, Rufous-gorgetted and Slaty-backed Flycatcher, White-browed and Rufous-winged Fulvetta, Blyth's Leaf Warbler, Assam Laughingthrush, Brown Bush Warbler, Chestnut-tailed Minla, Streak-throated Barwing, Green Shrike Babbler and many more. Good views were had of the rather isolated population of Black-bibbed Tit, and after some considerable searching we enjoyed excellent views of the cute Burmese Bushtit. In the afternoon we headed down again and finally heard the distinctive call of Spot-breasted Scimitar Babbler. It seemed quite distant but we didn't want to let the opportunity pass so we headed off-piste. It was far indeed and quite an adventure to reach the spot but when we did the bird performed fantastically, singing from open branches to round up our mission.

Burmese Bushtit and Black-bibbed Tit

White-browed Nuthatch and Chin Hills Wren Babbler

Happy with our clean up we made some rapid rearrangements to leave a day early and travel all the way back to Yangon the next day. All went smoothly and the extra time allowed us to slip in a visit to another new species that we hadn't expected to see when planning the itinerary. Jerdon's Babbler had been refound in remnant grassland patches near the capital and as the sun hit the next morning we had excellent views of this bonus bird which had been missing in the country for more than 70 years before its sensational rediscovery. Oriental Pratincole, a smart male Pied Harrier, Bluethroat, Barred and Small Buttonquail, Lanceolated Warbler and large numbers of Yellow-breasted Buntings as an exciting sideline. With plenty of time we did some touristy things in the afternoon with a visit to the Shwedagon Pagoda, a stunning cultural experience, although we still carried our optics of course and Peregrine Falcon was duly added to the trip list! We finished the tour with a visit to a nearby country park the next morning where Asian Emerald Cuckoo and Scarlet-backed Flowerpecker were new trip birds, but after some searching the highlight were two sightings of 'Davison's Bulbul' a highly distinct forthcoming split from Stripe-throated Bulbul and a great way to finish this leg of the Asian tour.

The tour recorded a total of 306 species of which 31 were heard only. For further information on our tours to Myanmar please contact us via our e-mail or click here for our scheduled departure tours.
